How stuff works:

Seminar on Ireland’s Pharma and Lifesciences sector

In Estonia, Ireland is well known as a similar centre of ICT excellence, however Ireland’s prominent role in the European pharma and lifesciences sector is less well known. This seminar aims to raise awareness about this sector in Ireland.

Venue: MEKTORY (Raja 15, Mustamäe, Tallinn), Logistics and Supply Chain Management Innovation Lab

Date: Thursday, 29th September 2016

Time: 14:00 - 16:00

Programme:

14:00 Introduction

14:15 Presentations by

Mr. Matt Moran, Director of BioPharmaChem Ireland (www.ibec.ie) on Ireland’s Pharma and Lifesciences sector

Mr. Mike Hogan, Director of Enterprise Ireland for Poland and the Baltics States (www.enterprise-ireland.com) on how Irish companies support Pharma FDI in Ireland and develop their own products and services for export.

15:15 Q&A

Matthew Moran is the Director of BioPharmaChem Ireland which represents the sector in Ireland. Matthew acts currently as a Vice-President of the Active Pharmaceuticals Ingredients (API) Committee of the European Chemical Industry Council (CEFIC) and is a Board member of The European Association for Bioindustries (Europabio). He has worked for over 10 years in the pharmaceutical industry where he held a number of management positions both in active ingredient and dosage form manufacture. He graduated in Chemistry at Trinity College Dublin in 1980 and in Chemical Engineering at University College Dublin in 1981 and holds an MBA from University College Dublin (Smurfit School of Business).

Mike Hogan is the Director of Enterprise Ireland for Poland and the Baltics States. Enterprise Ireland is the Irish state agency which assists Irish companies to develop and export. Mike has been working in Central and Eastern Europe since 1991, and between 2004-2011, was Enterprise Ireland Director of Russia and the CIS based in Moscow. He worked as the Head of Regulatory Affairs at Bord Gais Eireann (Ireland’s state owned natural gas company). Between 1991-1998 he was based in St Petersburg, where he was a founder and a managing partner of one of Russia’s first real estate companies with operations in Russia, Ukraine and Azerbaijan. He graduated in Public Administration at University of Limerick and holds an MBA and an LLM (Commercial Law) from University College Dublin.